Designblok – Prague International Design Festival

What is the Designblok experience?

Designblok 2024 after-movie

The central theme for the 27th Designblok is COURAGE.

“For me, courage is one of the most important ingredients of quality design. Designblok sees courage in each exhibitor’s drive to push their work further, to go where no one has gone before, and use not only traditional craft techniques but also new technologies. Not being afraid of new solutions and one’s own original expression is the cornerstone of success. For me, Designblok 2025 will be about the courage to connect individual disciplines, placing design in a widely social context, and the search for the best solutions, all the while paying attention to female designers and all women who have made a significant impact on the world’s design scene. Joseph Grima – the eminent British architect, design theorist and creative director of Design Academy Eindhoven,

Alcova Milano and Alcova Miami – called Designblok a ‘nurturing subject’ who helps transform the legacy of central Europe into a modern and prosperous society. All that without exhausting our unique resources, adopting a creative, responsible approach to production, and spreading awareness among the wider public. We wish everyone much courage in continuing this mission!”

*Jana Zielinski,
Designblok director*

City

- The city (stand-alone venues outside of Designblok's main exhibition spaces) = shops, showrooms, galleries, pop-up shops, or any other space which the subject chooses for their presentation
- Mostly located in Prague, but also other cities in Czechia.
- Dozens of galleries, exhibition spaces, and showrooms across Prague have traditionally taken part in Designblok, preparing various programs and special events for visitors throughout the festival
- Various fashion brands, pop-up shops, jewelers and company showrooms present exhibitions in their own spaces, and Prague-based art schools exhibit the works of their students and graduates.
- Museums which exhibit and collect design items also play a central part.
- All participants are featured on Designblok's interactive online map.

How to apply

- The selection process is based on the submitted online application.
- A mandatory part of the application form is a presentation, which must include a description and visual references of the participating site and the planned programme at the site (lectures, conferences, new product release, etc.)
- The selection process takes into account the following:
 - collaboration with designers and architects on the products (exposition)
 - visualization and description of the planned programme
 - the brand's general quality and public presentation (website, social networks, showroom, etc.)
- The deadline for submitting applications is on 31 May 2025 at 23:59.
- The applicants will receive note of the decision by 30 June 2025 at the latest.
- The final decision of participation is based on the organizers' curatorial decision.
- General terms and conditions can be found here.
